OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Signs of a General Election in Ontario—The Canadian Road Still Leads.

The Position of the Weldon Extradition Bill—Wanting His Marriage Annulled.

[From our own Correspondent.]

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 27.—From the general activity in the nomination of candidates, and from other ominous spots on the political horizon, one is almost persuaded to come to the conclusion that a general election in the province is not far distant. Hon. Oliver Mowat, some how or other, manages to keep the knowledge of these things from the public more than any other political leader. The last provincial elections he sprang upon the enemy at a time when they expected them not, and at a time when a general onslaught on the religious cry was to be made against him. To the careful observant the signs of an early appeal to the people are multiplying. Ministerial candidate after candidate has been nominated. In their speeches the ministers deal with more important questions than are generally introduced in ordinary political picnics. They not only defend the ministry of which they are members, but give prominence in their addresses to the attitude of the government on temperance, the liquor traffic, and, what will be a more burning question than either during the next campaign, the school question. As to the charges of the provincial administration controlling the liquor vote through the influence of the commissioners, it is merely visionary. In Ottawa alone there are not more than half a dozen Liberals engaged in the traffic—that is as far as hotel and saloon-keepers are concerned. In regard to schools the minister of education has issued a circular of instruction to teachers and trustees of schools where French has hitherto been taught, to the exclusion of English. The circular is the first result of the appointment of the commission appointed sometime ago to enquire into this matter.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Eastern newspapers are referring with considerable pride, and rightly too, to the fact that the Canadian Pacific will soon have through trains running between Vancouver and Halifax in forty-two hours less time than the distance is now covered. On these trains will be conveyed the mails to and from the fast steamers the company will put on the Pacific route to China and Japan, thus improving a service much better now than any of its competitors. That it will continue to lead there is little doubt, since it will be unavailing to shorten the distance between the eastern coast of Asia and England over any American railway.

WELDON'S EXTRADITION BILL.

Last session of Parliament Mr. Weldon, M. P., the Conservative member from New Brunswick, there being a Liberal member of that name, introduced and passed through the Dominion Parliament an extradition bill, making the extradition of criminals between this country and the United States more easily, and also including crimes that are not now extraditable. Various kinds of reports are in circulation as to what has become of the bill, many American newspapers asserting that it was disallowed by the British government. This is not so. It appears that for sometime past negotiations have been going on between the American and British governments for a new, and more liberal treaty. One was framed satisfactory to the British government and forwarded to the Washing authorities for their sanction. While it is said to be in every way satisfactory to the American government it will be necessary that it pass the legislature before being proclaimed, while on the other hand the British government can put the treaty in force by proclamation and afterwards ask Parliament to ratify their action. This treaty is now waiting to pass the Legislature of the United States. The Weldon Bill, therefore, was returned by the Imperial government to the Canadian government asking to hold it in abeyance—that is not issuing a proclamation by the Governor-General-in-Council which the fourth clause gives power to do. If the treaty referred to does not pass if it is not satisfactory to Canada, then the government can proclaim the Weldon Bill, or make any alteration to it which the British American treaty might require. This, I am informed by the government, is the true position of affairs.

AT THE POINT OF THE REVOLVER.

A rather interesting case came up here to day, Monday, in the Chancery court. A young man 19 years of age, named Lawless, son of Mr. Lawless, of Ottawa County, a rather aristocratic Englishman, at one time manager of one of the banks of British North America and claims to be a son of the true blue blooded aristocracy of England—that is Lawless the father—met a young girl named Chamberlin, from Aylmer about a year ago. He saw her home on that occasion and was a frequent visitor at her father's house afterwards. About a month or so after they first met their intercourse became of a criminal character. About two months ago the girl wrote young Lawless to meet her at her father's house. He did so. While sitting on the sofa in the parlor, Mr. Chamberlain, the father, entered the room, and asked the young gentleman what were his intentions towards his daughter, since he ruined her. The young man lifted his hat to go but a shining revolver prevented his exit. Two gentlemen friends of Chamberlain entered the room and three minutes were given Lawless to consent to marry the girl. Under terror he did so. First one minister then another were sent for but both refused to perform the marriage ceremony on account of both being minors, and the marriage a forced one. This took place in Aylmer. Having failed in getting the marriage performed there they drove to Ottawa, where both were united by Rev. Dr. Marks, who was put up at an early hour to do so. The case in question is brought to annul the marriage. If it is annulled, the judge having reserved decision, it is likely that Lawless will be tried under the Charlton seduction act.

ABBOTT'S RETURN.

Hon. J. J. C. Abbott has returned from England where he was in connection with the proposed conference between the colonies, to take place in Australia, and which has been adjourned for some time.

SLABTOWN.

A CONSTANT COVE.

Sir John Continues to Play Upon the Blind Faith of Victoria.

The Colonist, which is the organ-in-chief of the Dominion government in British Columbia, is again horrified. The government, which is so popular in Victoria that a representative has just been elected to support it without being required to confide in the people, has issued an order-in-council setting apart Constance Cove, Esquimalt, for the exclusive use of the navy. This, the Colonist takes to be a terrible blow at the shipping interests of Victoria, and, undoubtedly, if the naval authorities interpret the word "exclusive" to mean what it is generally supposed to mean, and enforce the order, the injury, and annoyance, and inconvenience to our shipping interests will be all that our contemporary dreads. The TIMES said, when the Hustede affair occurred, that too much importance was attached to a trifling incident, and that a somewhat boorish sea captain was being made a hero of because he had, through his own obstinacy, ran against the supposed authority of an an English Admiral and set it at defiance. Out of this has come the order reserving this better half of Esquimalt harbor for the exclusive use of the navy. Now, we would like to ask what right has the Colonist to protest? A few weeks ago we implored the organ to assist us in convincing Mr. Earle that his true position in relation to the government, was one of strict independence. We believed then, as we believe now, that Victoria owes nothing to the Dominion government, and that to continue the subserviency of the past—the "generous" but not independent support which has been given Sir John by this city—was the blankest sort of folly and as abject a debasement of the franchise as was ever perpetrated by a party-ridden constituency of the east. But the Colonist maintained a sphinx-like silence. It dare not be independent. The ring had fixed it and by 'ring' and 'fixing' we mean nothing worse than the customary method of manipulating election contests in Victoria. Sir John has stated publicly that while he may have some respect for the man who votes for him when he is right, he has infinitely more love for the man who sticks to him when he is in the wrong. Perhaps in this way Victoria will sometime earn Sir John's affection. We have been humble and devoted tools of the great political juggler, and have "voted for him" when we knew he was wrong. The Colonist and the "ring" propose to continue doing so, and the people agree with them. Let the farce go on, and let Mr. Earle continue his "generous but independent support." The TIMES' idea will probably prevail at the next general election.

SEAL CATCHER'S TROUBLES.

Capt. Sol. Jacobs, of the Schooner Mollie Adams, Arrested.

A flutter of excitement was caused in sealing circles this morning by the announcement that Capt. Sol. Jacobs of the sealer Mollie Adams had been arrested and lodged in the provincial jail.

The reason of the captain's incarceration is on account of some dispute in the matter of a sale of the seal skins brought to this port by the schooner Mollie Adams. It appears that one F. Baxter, of Seattle, had contracted with Captain Jacobs for the purchase of the season's catch at the rate of $6 per skin. Captain Jacobs was at that time sole owner of the schooner, and all the skins captured by her up to May were delivered to Baxter.

In May last, however, Capt. Jacobs sold the schooner to his half-brother, Wm. Hudder, and the skins caught after that were not delivered to Baxter, as it was understood by Hudder that the bargain was broken when the schooner changed hands. A week or two ago the Mollie Adams entered this port from Behring Sea with quite a number of skins aboard, the exact amount of the catch having never been made public, but believed to be in the neighborhood of 2,000, and these skins were offered for sale to a 'Frisco firm through their agent here at $8 each, and the offer was accepted, but Baxter, of Seattle, getting wind of this, applied for and obtained an injunction on the sale, as he claims by not having the skins delivered to him per agreement he had met with financial loss to a considerable amount.

Other complications then arose, and it was rumored at one time that Capt. Jacobs was about to leave port with his schooner, but his friends deny this, but at all events he was arrested by Bergt. Langley this morning on a writ of capias. This afternoon bail was obtained, understood to amount to $6,850, and Capt. Jacobs was liberated, but there are in the future several knotty problems to be untangled by the legal ability of the local bench and bar.

Rattling Prize Fight—Horse Killed by the Deadly Electric Light Wire.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—Edward J. Cooper, treasurer of the town of Greenfield, shot and instantly killed his brother, Peter Cooper, at breakfast table this morning. Both resided on a farm seven miles from this city. The murderer, who at once gave himself up, is the younger of the two, being 37 years old. He said the murder was the result of long endurance of petty tyranny from his brother, who was possessed of a violent temper.

HERAMA JONES DIES.

Newburgh, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Herams Jones died Saturday aged 70. He was originator of the pony express across the continent, and arranged the whole programme personally.

THE PRODIGAL'S RETURN.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 5.—Frank George Young, an Englishman, was released from the state prison to-day after serving a term for larceny. His father is a wealthy manufacturer of woolens at Rewl, England. The son is a spendthrift and his father gave him money and sent him to this country. The boy spent the money and became a tramp. He robbed a fellow tramp and was sent to jail. His father has sent him a ticket from Jeffersonville and he will start for England at once.

DEADLY WIRES.

New York, Nov. 5.—Some time this morning one of the wires of a telephone line fell to the street and formed a loop across the down track of the Fourth Avenue Railroad. Soon after it fell Thomas Whelan, driver of a Herald delivery wagon, came along. The horse stepped on the wire and was roasted to death. Police Sergeant McDonald, who was standing near, was considerably shocked.

CHEATED THE GALLOWS.

Nevada City, Cal., Nov. 5.—David Steele, awaiting sentence for killing Peter Chappel, killed himself this morning by severing an artery in his arm.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 5.—News was received this morning of a fight between troops from Fort Huachu and Indians. The fight occurred ten miles from Crittendon at four o'clock this morning, and was with a detachment under Sergeant Pickins. A number of shots were exchanged, but none of the soldiers were hit. Corporal Griffin is missing.

THE RING.

Newburgh, Nov. 5.—A rattling prize fight took place this morning at Highland Falls between Jim Daly of Philadelphia and Bill Gabig of Pittsburg, both heavyweights, for a purse of $500. Daly proved victor in the eleventh round.

CLEVELAND'S PLANS.

Boston, Nov. 5.—A Washington dispatch to the Globe says ex-President and Mrs. Cleveland have matured plans to sail next June for Europe, where they will spend the best part of the year in travelling over the continent.

U. S. ELECTIONS.

New York, Nov. 5.—The election is progression quietly in the city, each faction making a strong fight, and quiet but full votes are being polled. The weather throughout the state generally is cloudy and reports of a light vote in most quarters are reported. In Massachusetts, the Australian system is receiving its first trial and working well. The vote is up to the average in Virginia and the Democrats are making a strong fight and confident of victory. No trouble is reported.

GENEROUS CARNOT.

Paris, Nov. 5.—President Carnot has given another contribution of 25,000 francs for the poor of Paris.

OPINION ON FEDERATION.

London, Nov. 5.—The Standard thinks the time is not yet ripe for federation, but believes the Mother Country will endorse whatever plan of settlement is decided upon by the Australian colonies.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S JOURNEY

The Good People of Duncan's Welcome Him With an Address.

[Special to THE TIMES.]

Duncan's, Nov. 5.—Over five hundred people were in attendance here to witness the arrival of His Excellency the Governor-General this morning. Upon the arrival of the train, Mr. H. Croft, M. P. P., presented an address. His Excellency replied in his usual eloquent manner. The station was profusely decorated with flowers, etc. After being introduced to the principal inhabitants, also to the chief of the Indian tribes, who were introduced by Mr. Lomas, Indian agent, His Excellency returned to the train, evidently much pleased with the reception accorded him. In the absence of Lady Stanley, His Excellency received a beautiful boquet from the school children on her behalf.

The address presented was as follows: To the Right Honorable Lord Stanley, of Preston, Governor-General [of Canada—May it please Your Excellency, we the inhabitants of the Cowichan district of British Columbia, wish to accord you a very hearty welcome as the representative of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, upon this, your first visit to this province. We much regret that owing to the limited time at your disposal and the position of the Island railway, you are prevented from seeing the beauties and capabilities of our district, the garden of British Columbia. We trust that at no distant date the railway upon which you are now travelling will form a portion of a transcontinental line connecting without trans-shipment the two chief naval stations of British North America—Esquimalt and Halifax. It affords us great pleasure to meet Your Excellency and Lady Stanley in this the most western province of the British Empire, and to assure you of our loyalty and attachment to Her Majesty's person and throne, and we hope that after a safe and agreeable journey homeward you may have pleasing memories of your visit to this country. (Signed) on behalf of the residents of Cowichan District, Henry Croft, M. P. P., W. C. Mathew, A. Pimbury, W. P. Jaynes, W. H. Lomas, W. C. Duncan, Henry Fry, and A. J. Bell.

FREDDY AND LILY.

The Poor Boy Said to be Completely Throwa Up.

New York, Nov. 4.—A rumor to the effect that Mrs. Langtry and Freddy Gebhard have quarreled has been freely circulated for several days past. About a week ago Mr. Gebhard received a missive from England, written by Mrs. Langtry, and the contents were evidently displeasing to Mr. Gebhard. A member of the Union club, who is close to Mr. Gebhard, in commenting upon the latter's action since the receipt of that fateful letter, said last night: "It knocked the poor boy completely out." Another club man said that it was freely rumored that Mrs. Langtry is at present receiving the attention of a well known English nobleman with a title as long as Mr. Gebhard's purse. He supposed that it was the knowledge of this fact that had started Mr. Gebhard upon a round of jollity. A circumstance that goes far in confirmation of the story of a quarrel, is the fact that Mr. Gebhard no longer sleeps at Mrs. Langtry's handsome residence on West 23rd street.

U. S. THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thursday, the 28th Inst., Set Apart by the President.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The following Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by the president last evening:

A highly favored people, mindful of their dependence on the bounty of Divine Providence, should seek a fitting occasion to testify their gratitude and ascribe praise to Him who is the author of their many blessings. It behooves them to look back with thankful hearts over the past year, and bless God for His infinite mercy in the blessings of our land, the enduring peace of our people, freedom from pestilence and famine, our husbandmen's abundant harvests, and to them that labor the recompense of their toil. Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, do earnestly recommend Thursday, the 28th day of the present month of November, be set apart for a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and that the people of our country, ceasing from the cares and labors of their working day, shall assemble in their respective places of worship and give thanks to God, who has prospered us on our way and made our paths the paths of peace, beseeching him to bless the day to our present and future good, making it truly one of thanksgiving for each reunited home circle of the nation at large. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Stands Adjourned.

The registrar of the County Court desires it to be known (the Provincial government cannot afford to advertise it) that on account of Thanksgiving Day falling on Thursday the County Court will stand adjourned to the 14th instant.

Schooner Triumph Sold.

The sealing schooner Triumph has been purchased by the Cox brothers and E. B. Marvin and will in future carry the firm's house flag. The price paid for her, together with her outfit was about $9000. Capt. Clarence Cox will probably command her on her next hunt for seals.

For Vancouver Use.

A heavy butcher's wagon was sent to Vancouver to-day by Mr. Wm. Grimm, the builder. The wagon is one of the largest of its class, a four-wheeler, and will carry four tons. It is finished in first-class style throughout, and will show to the Vancouverites that in the matter of wagon building Victoria cannot be outdone.

The Salmon Fleet.

The bark Tythonus, Capt. Lambert, cleared for London yesterday with a cargo of 51,429 cases of British Columbia salmon valued at $237,820. This is the fifth vessel of the season of the salmon fleet. The Tythonus is under charter to R. P. Rithet & Co., and will sail as soon as a mate is obtained, which is the cause of the present delay.

A Month's Crime.

During the month of October 149 arrests were made, of which number ten were Indians and two Chinese. The offences were all of a trivial nature, being mostly drunks. The highest sentence has been one of two months for petty larceny. By this showing it will be seen that the record of crime in the city is very light.

Death of Judge Palmer.

The death of Chief Justice Palmer, of Prince Edward Island, is reported by telegraph. The deceased was the father of Captain Palmer of O Battery and uncle of Mr. Robert Palmer of Vancouver, who is at present in the city. He was in every respect a good man, a learned lawyer, a just judge, and withal a humble Christian. After many cycles of faithful public service, it may be well said of him that he has been gathered to his fathers full of years and honors.

Kisses.

A prominent physician calls the kiss "an elegant disseminator of disease." He says, "fever is spread by it, so are lung diseases." He maintains that if the kissing custom were driven out of the land "it would save one-tenth of one per cent. of human lives," which are now sacrificed. Out upon the gnarled and sapless vagabond! Evidently kisses are not for such, and as the old fox says, the grapes are sour. Let him devote himself to making our women healthy and blooming that kisses may be kisses. This can surely be done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is magical in its effect, upon all diseases peculiar to females. After taking it there will be no more irregularity, no more backache, no more nervous prostration, no more general debility. All druggists.

To regulate the stomach, liver and bowels, Dr. Pierce's Pellets excel. 25 cents a vial; one a dose. sat-wed

VICE-REGAL NOTES.

The Visit to Nanaimo To-day—Returns West To-morrow.

Admiral Heneage entertained eleven ladies at lunch on H. M. S. Swiftsure to-day. Among the party were Miss Stanley and Miss Lister.

The vice-regal party will leave for New Westminster in the morning, en route home. H. M. S. Amphion has been detailed to take them up to the Royal City.

A special train composed of the private car Maude and two passenger coaches, in charge of Conductor Coburn, left the depot at 9 o'clock this morning for Nanaimo with His Excellency and suite on board. The cars were profusely and handsomely decorated, and undoubtedly the finest looking train that ever steamed out of the depot. The party will return to the city between seven and eight o'clock this evening.

YATES' LETTER.

Usual Small Talk—The Royal German Bed-chamber—What is Expected There.

The Queen's New Shawl—A Secret Out—Italy's Design on France Unfolded.

New York, Nov. 5.—Edmund Yates' London cable to the Tribune, says: Among the Queen's presents to the Duchess of Sparta were two Indian shawls, both being extremely beautiful. The Queen's annual tribute of shawls from India consists of two kinds. Some are less valuable than others, and these are given to friends, the best being kept for members of her own family or relations.

The German Empress expects her accouchment in the spring, and hence the reason why she was indisposed by the long journey to Monza and thence to Athens.

Prince Ferdinand, has, I hear, been cruising for the hand of Princess Clementine, his mother's god-daughter and the youngest daughter of the King of The Belgians, who will have an immense fortune, her parents being rich beyond comprehension, and she their favorite child. But King Leopold would not hear of such a match, and when the Prince went to Brussels the other day he was not received at Looker, and the only member of the royal family who called upon him at his hotel was the Compte de Flandre. Princess Clementine would have been betrothed to the Prince of Naples but for the interference of the Pope.

I regret to learn that Professor John Cauche Adams, the illustrious astronomer, is lying seriously ill at the observatory at Cambridge. He had what was regarded at one time as a comparatively slight apopletic seizure on Monday last, from which he rallied to the extent that was not anticipated.

It is understood that Lord Harris will succeed Lord Rody as Governor of Bombay.

The surrender of Gweedore, as the National papers call it, has caused an extremely better feeling among the Parnellites, and only because Mr. Healey was one of the parties of the transaction. That the expression of their anger has been restrained within moderate bounds and the plea of "guilty" offered by so many of the prisoners, completely spoilt the Parnellite game. The trials at Maryborough were to be made the ground of a great attack on the administration of justice in Ireland, and to be held up as another example of castle chicanery and oppression. Even an Irish Nationalist can hardly assert the innocence of the men who have pleaded guilty, and so the plot for attacking the government came to naught.

THE IRON CRAZE.

Glasgow, Nov. 5.—The speculative craze in iron continues with startling fluctuation. To-day iron warrants rose from 58s. 8½d. to 60s. in three minutes. The cause was owing to a decrease of fifty thousand tons in Middlesboro.

HOW WAR WAS AVERTED.

A Tale Unfolded of Italy's Design on France.

Paris, Nov. 5.—M. Delcucle, Minister Spuller's secretary, in an article in the Siecle, declares that during the recent electoral campaign in France, the Italian government, hoping for a Boulangist triumph, had 80,000 troops waiting for the signal to invade France. Delcucle further says that Crispi, the Italian prime minister, wanted England and Germany to consent to Italy sending a note to France, demanding the abandonment of a French protectorate over Tunis in order to provoke a quarrel. England declined, and Germany, the writer believes, rebuked Crispi. The triumph of President Carnot then upset the Italians' previous plans.

Chas. Gabriel of the Japanese bazaar, after an extended trip abroad of three and a half months, returned last evening on the Olympian.

J. H. Tbain and bride returned from their honeymoon trip to San Francisco last evening and will shortly leave for their new home in Vancouver.

E. L. Shannon, formerly of this city, came up from San Francisco on the Fuchia yesterday. Mr. Shannon has done a good deal of travelling of late, but does not forget Victoria in his meanderings. He will return south in a few days and then probably go east.

H. A. Brassey, a younger brother of Lord Brassey, J. R. Hickens, G. T. Estcourt and G. Valonte are a party of Londoners doing the west on a pleasure tour. The party came overland in the special car "Wildwood," arriving in this city this morning and are at the Driard.

Mr. Alex. Begg, the crofter immigration-commissioner, arrived from Toronto, last night. Mr. Begg says his scheme is being forwarded as rapidly as the delays unavoidable in such matters will permit. At present the English government is awaiting the report of a committee of the house, and as Mr. Begg has reason to think that the report will be a favorable one, the prospects for an early and large immigration of crofters is expected.

RECEIVING A GOVERNOR.

If there is any one thing for which Lord STANLEY seems pre-eminently distinguished, it is his good common sense. It sometimes happens that men of common sense are addicted to fuss and feathers. Lord STANLEY, however, does not belong apparently to this class. Unaffected in his ways, sensible and direct in his speech, a man in a word whose vanity has not been puffed up by the honors he has earned, he is necessarily a punctual man, and so it turned out that the Vancouverites who lagged thirty minutes at his reception missed the honor of shaking the Vice-Regal hand, and putting the question: "What do you think of the country and its glorious climate." The proportion of people who have acquired enough of the world's goods, or perhaps we should say Vancouver real estate, to be regarded solid men, fall into the very bad habit of hanging back until the last moment on all public occasions. They are always late at the theatre and church. To enter either of these edifices sharply on time is to put themselves on par with the vulgar crowd. This was the game evidently the Vancouver snobs sought to play on the Governor-General, and they got left. The rebuke they received was a just one. They mistook their man, and if the effect shall be to induce these people not to confound punctuality with the habits of plebeians, Lord STANLEY may reckon himself of having conferred an inestimable boon on actors and ministers. But if the Vancouverites hoped to impress the Viceroy of their patrician tastes and all that sort of thing, by an exhibition of tardiness, Victoria is not much better off in her efforts to do the distinguished representative of the Crown honor. The mistakes of Victoria, however, are more peculiarly those of the head than of the heart. The committee of arrangements unable to perceive that they had to do with a practical man sought to emulate the "field of cloth and gold," and in so far as the cloth and gold part of the business went it is lucky Mr. VILLIERS was not present. We should have very much dreaded to have seen reproduced in the London Illustrated News the arch which adorned the intersection of Government and Yates streets, together with the wrangles about precedence and the debate over the United States consul, on whose shoulders it was proposed to lay the blame of the sins of his government. All these things point to an over-weening sense of what was the proper thing, and as coming events cast their shadows before so did these bickerings foreshadow a hitch which only heartfelt loyalty could atone. Whenever the provincials shall be able to get it through their thick noodle that Her Majesty's representatives are level headed individuals, in fact are selected to represent Her Majesty on this very account, the necessity of reciprocating in kind will strike them as the paramount consideration, and arches and precedence will be relegated to where they belong—to the incidents and not the features of provincial rejoicing.

THE MILLERS AND FARMERS.

The fearful amount of gall (there does not seem to be any other name for it) which the millers display in asking that the duty shall be taken off wheat that they may continue to pile up profits, is an exemplification of disregard for the golden rule which suggests that the teaching of it had as well be abandoned. But the funny part of the transaction is that it should become a subject for debate, and what is more absurd still, is that a duty should ever have been put on wheat and flour in the first place. Certainly the Canadian farmer should be able to raise wheat as cheaply as the American farmer. If the raw material cannot be produced at home as cheaply as the Americans can raise it and ship it to the Canadian market, it would appear that the Canadian farmer is not fitted for his vocation. Of course the government cannot abrogate the duty on the staff of life, whether in its raw or manufactured state. This would be a concession to the Liberal programme which would lead to the dissolution of the "National Policy." Since the government has undertaken to build up Canada by artificial methods, and since besides, it cannot safely recede from the policy it has adopted, perhaps the next best thing is to elevate the duty on wheat and flour both so as to absolutely defy foreign competition. If the present duty on wheat and flour is insufficient to keep the American product out of the Canadian market, why not raise it higher? This course would be perfectly consistent with the principle of protection, whereas, should the duty be lowered on wheat and raised on flour or left to remain as it is on wheat and the millers still further protected, we have class legislation with a vengeance, a millers plutocracy in fact would be built up at the expense of the consumer. This much, however, seems reasonable in relation to the present situation: no middle course can be pursued with safety. Discontent prevails, and if a cure can be affected at all it must result from a radical measure of some kind. Either the duty must be removed altogether or so increased as to effectually debar the importation of the American product. Nobody wants to see the Canadian wheat raiser distressed by American competition, although it is difficult to see that that would be any worse than a depression of wheat caused by a millers' combine, which is now said to be in process of incubation. The safest way out of the difficulty is to remove the duty on wheat and flour altogether. If wheat cannot be raised and flour manufactured as cheaply in Canada as in Dakota and Minnesota, the farmers should go more largely into the egg business, a species of fruit so largely in demand in the States that it is imported from Europe.

THE FRENCH FISHERMEN.

As a rule, says the Canadian Gazette, speaking of the modus vivendi, the bait sellers of Newfoundland have loyally complied with this Bait Act as a measure of self-preservation, and there has been little local smuggling of bait to St. Pierre. With United States and Canadian fishermen, however, it is different, and the St. John's correspondent of the Montreal Gazette, who is no retailer of idle gossip, assures us that he could produce the most conclusive proofs to show that both Canadian and United States shipmasters and owners have been conspiring with the French, to supply their fishermen with bait, and so enable them to evade the laws of Newfoundland, while all sorts of devices have been adopted to escape capture when smuggling bait. United States vessels, he adds, have provided themselves with modus vivendi licenses from Canada, which the Newfoundland government agreed to recognize:

They have come into our ports, secretly loaded themselves with bait, and when overhauled by our cruisers, they run up the American flag and their license protects them, so that they can run into St. Pierre and sell their cargoes of bait. Here is an instance for which I have the best authority. A large American schooner ran for St. Pierre from one of out ports, having on board 900 barrels of bait. To conceal her dishonorable doings, she falsely reported that in entering St. Pierre she had touched a rock and injured her bottom. Thereupon she was ordered to put her cargo into lighters, and as it was perishable, it was ordered to be sold at once. Every barrel was sold, thus realizing large profits to the master and owners. It is needless to say that the vessel's bottom was not even scratched. Other American and Canadian vessels have done the same thing openly and defiantly, and take no trouble in saving appearances.

The trouble apparently with the modus vivendi does not apparently lie in the law itself but in the administration of it, and from the above account of it the Canadians are as deep in the mud as the Americans are in the mire.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Miss CALDWELL, of Washington, established her character for generosity by giving $300,000 to the new Catholic university in that city, which will be dedicated on the 13th instant. She has now established it for financial discernment and common sense by refusing to give the control of her fortune to a pauper prince in exchange for his title.

A great revival of the English mining industries has, according to the London Daily News, taken place in 1888. The total quantity of minerals raised came to 182,660,146 tons, an amount which exceeds the total of any previous year. The largest item of course was coal, which reached the huge output of 169,935,219 tons—nearly 7,816,000 tons more than the quantity mined in 1887. Ironstone weighed 8,635,032 tons, or more than 1,000,000 tons in excess of the yield in 1887. The greatest development, however, was in the oil shale industry, the quantity worked having risen from 1,411,378 tons in 1887 to 2,076,504, an increase of 47 per cent.

The London 'busmen and car drivers have been telling the British public their grievances. One of the carmen said that he went to work at 6:14 in the morning, and when he was "not working late" stopped at midnight. These short days were mingled with long days, when his hours were from 6:14 a.m. on one day until 2 a.m. on the next day. A 'busman was disposed to make light of this case. The favored car driver had two hours for his meals, while he (the 'busman) was allowed only seven minutes for breakfast and twenty for dinner. Lord ROSEBERY and Lord MONKSWELL are interested in a movement to put an end to this shameful slavery.

It cost C. P. HUNTINGTON, it is said, about $10,000,000 to settle his daughter as Princess HATZFELDT. This included dowry and payment of her prodigal's debts. The arrangement ought to be satisfactory to the prince since he is now out of debt for the first time since he was a beardless boy. It is not likely, however, that his debts prayed upon his mind after the manner that the mortgage on the old farm preys upon that of the honest farmer. A petty German prince without debts is an exception, and the only wonder is that HATZFELDT has not long ago married a granddaughter of Queen VICTORIA, removed to London and set about bringing up a family at the expense of the British taxpayers, in regulation style.

The proposed marriage of Miss CALDWELL, the rich Washington City woman, with Prince MURAT, has fallen through. Miss CALDWELL, who is worth $10,000,000, proposed to put her husband on an allowance of $10,000 a year, a sum altogether inadequate to meet the modest tastes of the prospective groom, and so he declined to marry the penurious American. "You cannot wish to treat your husband with such a display of suspicion," said the astonished Prince, when he learned that $10,000 was to be his allowance. Miss CALDWELL replied that she had always managed her fortune and always intended to. Miss CALDWELL, it is said, is celebrated for holding on tightly to her money. One of her friends, gossiping about her, says that she has a dreadful time paying bills, and disputes nearly all the accounts of her tradespeople. Last winter a florist sued her for $300 for flowers used in decorating her house, and a liveryman sued her for pay for carriages he had furnished her. Miss CALDWELL may be meanly penurious, but it is satisfactory to know that she is level-headed enough not to be made a fool of by European aristocrats of dubious paternity and still more dubious personal character.

A curious accident which happened recently in Paris points out a possible danger in the wearing of combs and bracelets of celluloid. A little girl sat down before the fire to prepare her lessons. Her hair was kept back by a semicircle comb of celluloid. As her head was bent forward to the fire this became warm, and suddenly burst into flames. The child's hair was partly burned off, and the skin of the head was so injured that several months after, though the burn was healed, the cicatrix formed a white patch on which no hair would grow. The burning point of celluloid is about 180 degrees, and the comb worn by the girl had attained that heat as it was held before the fire.

Some of the ordinary expressions of the Chinese are very sarcastic and characteristic. A blustering, harmless fellow they call a "paper tiger." When a man values himself overmuch, they compare him to "a rat falling into a scale and weighing himself." Overdoing a thing, they call a "hunchback making a bow." A spendthrift they compare to a rocket which goes off at once. Those who expend their charity on remote objects, but neglect their family, are said "to hang a lantern on a rope, which is seen afar but gives no light below."

—The best form in which electricity is embodied is Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, a sovereign and highly sanctioned specific for rheumatic pains, and a thoroughly reliable remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, used externally and internally.

—A. Maybee, merchant, Warkworth, writes: "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public 'one of the best medicines they have ever used;' it has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throat, &c., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."

Thirty Years Ago.

Over thirty years ago there was placed upon the market a remedy designed to relieve pain and capable of either external or internal use. From the first it has had wonderful success, and hundreds test fy that Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures rheumatism, sore throat, sprains, croup cuts, bruises and all pains and aches.

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

A Serious Rupture Which May Result Disastrously to the Country.

The Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, on his return to Montreal a few days since, has given the following reasons as the true cause for the breaking off by the Andersons of their mail contract with the Dominion government. The reason assigned is that the Andersons assert that the government would not carry out the understanding it had with the Canadian Pacific Railway as to facilities for the conveyance of passengers over the Intercolonial Railway. It had agreed to grant the Canadian Pacific Railway running powers at special rates over this road from the terminus of the Canadian Pacific short line at St. John, N. B., to Halifax, at which point the passengers and mails were to land. This they now refuse to give and will only carry passengers at regular rates over the Intercolonial railway, thus necessitating a change of cars at St. John, N. B. As the object of the Canadian Pacific Railway Short Line through Maine was to provide this quick transportation across the continent, Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald Smith at once withdrew their names, and the Anderson syndicate refused to go on with the projected line of steamers until proper facilities were granted. They hold that if the line is to be of any service, the railway company should be in a position to take passengers through without change of cars or other delays, and that if the government would not permit this it would be of no use to proceed in the matter. No reason can be assigned for this action on the part of the government, other than that Mr. Collingwood Schrieber, chief engineer of government railways, has always set his face against the proposed arrangement and has done his best to have it broken. At any rate it means war to the knife between the Canadian Pacific railway and the government, and it is said that the latter will arrange with the Grand Trunk for another short line to Halifax and get another syndicate to take up the mail steamer service. It is expected that this will be done by selling back to the Grand Trunk that section of the Intercolonial between Quebec and River du Loup and granting them running powers over it. The Temiscota railway, which runs from River du Loup to Edmonton is controlled by the Grand Trunk, which would extend the line across New Brunswick to Moncton where it would connect with the Intercolonial, which runs from that point almost direct to Halifax. Mr. Abbott stated that he would have gone to Australia from London to arrange for a congress to discuss the possibility of closer trade relations between that country and Canada, but on arriving in England he found that all the legislatures were in session, and such a conference would be impossible at the present time. It is suspected, however, that the falling through of the fast mail service had something to do with his return.

Over the Footlights.

Francis Wilson was asked the other day whether he could distinguish many faces in the main body of the theatre while he was playing his part.

"Yes," he replied, "I can generally find my friends, if there happen to be any in the house. I have fallen into the habit of watching the front of the house very closely for familiar faces, and after my first scene is over I know just where they are sitting. I used to think it eminently proper to try not to observe faces in the house, but experience has taught me that a comedian playing the kind of characters I am acting should keep a very close watch on the countenances of the people he is trying to amuse. I have frequently singled out some very sober looking old fellow in the audience for comedy practice and tried in various ways to excite a smile from him.

"It may be a long time coming, yet some little trick may tickle his fancy, and once the laugh does come he is sure to follow it up with others, often excited by trivial things which never could have provoked that first chuckle had they preceded the joke that caught him. I don't feel any embarrassment when I see the faces of intimate friends before me, although they are often more difficult to amuse than strangers, probably because one's methods are more familiar to them.

"I remember once when I was playing in St. Louis in 'Nadjy' I saw an old fellow asleep in the third row of the orchestra. Oh, how he was enjoying that snooze! I walked as close to the footlights as possible, and turning to whoever was on the stage with me, yelled out my line in a shrill treble voice which might have cracked the tympanum of his ear. It accomplished my purpose nicely, for he jumped as if he had sat upon an upturned pin, and he kept awake for the rest of the evening. We see some very amusing things in the front of a house."—New York Tribune.

Carving on Peach Stones.

Properzia di Rossi, a maiden of rare beauty, great refinement and unusual education, gave herself very early in life to the study of art. "Minute tracery" was her forte. The first work of this gifted girl was carving on a peach stone the crucifixion of our Saviour—a work comprising many figures, executioners, disciples, women and soldiers; all most remarkable for delicacy and perfection of expression, and an admirable distribution of the groups. In the cabinet of gems in the gallery of Florence is still to be seen a cherry stone on which is carved a chorus of saints, in which seventy heads may be counted.

Among other women of the Sixteenth century noted as sculptors, fresco painters and engravers, one of Titian's pupils, Irene di Spilimberg, highly educated, surrounded by luxury and with everything beautiful about her, devoted herself wholly to art. Some of her works are still extant, and she must have used her time and energies to great purpose, for she died at the age of 19.—Harper's Bazar.

Gladstone's Church.

Hawarden church is as much an object of curiosity as any other feature of the place, from the fact that Gladstone has so often read the service there. It, too, overlooks the river Dee. It is of rather ancient construction, and like the castle has been greatly altered and added to. Pictures of Mr. Gladstone reading the service in this church have been often drawn. His manner while so doing is characteristic. Holding himself erect he gives forth his lines in a clear and penetrating voice, every word being easily heard and grasped. With his right hand he follows the lines down the Bible as he reads them, while with his left he clutches the high candlestick beside him for support.

She Shot a Crane at Forty-seven Yards.

Miss Mattie Ghan, who lives near Lynesville, in this county, killed a crane one day last week that measured six feet four and a half inches from tip to tip of its wings, and was five feet seven inches high. It had a fish in its mouth when shot, and Miss G. showed her skill in handling a gun when it is known that the crane was forty-seven yards from her when she shot.—Crawfordville Democrat.

A Simple Scientific Experiment.

Take a bottle and place a cork over the mouth. The cork must be sufficiently large to rest lightly upon it, without falling into the neck. Snap the neck of the bottle sharply with the thumb and finger, and the cork will fall from the bottle towards the hand giving the blow, and not away from it, as might be expected. This effect is due to the principle of inertia, the quick blow forcing, as it were, the bottle away from the cork before the motion can be transmitted to the cork itself.—Buffalo Times.

MAKING COD LIVER OIL.

METHOD OF EXTRACTING THE USEFUL ARTICLE DESCRIBED.

Production at a Maine Factory—Oils from Norway and Newfoundland Rank as the Best—The Fumes Arising from the Vats Sometimes Cure Consumption.

American cod liver oil is made here. The livers of the cod, haddock, pollock, hake and cusk are used in the manufacture. Only about one-third of the American output of this oil is procured from cod livers.

From September until March the livers are fat and in the best condition. A bucketful of livers will then yield about six quarts of oil. Only four quarts of this, however, can be made suitable for medicinal purposes; the remaining two quarts is of an inferior quality and is used by curriers.

From March to June the livers are thin and inferior and will yield only one-half as much oil. Cod liver oil for medicinal purposes must be made from livers of fish that have not been dead over forty-eight hours. Fishing vessels on their long trips to the banks save the fish livers in hogsheads and sell them to the oil manufacturers for thirty cents per bucketful. From these livers an inferior quality of oil is made, that is used by tanners.

STEAMING THE LIVERS.

Up to about fifteen years ago the most primitive means were used for obtaining oil from livers. The results were very unsatisfactory, and the best portion of the livers was wasted. The old method was to expose the livers to the action of the sun until the oil was dried out. Only a small percentage of oil was thus secured, and the residue was thrown away as useless. Now every portion of the liver is used. The method is to put the livers into a large tin lined vat having a coil of perforated steam pipes in the bottom. A pressure of thirty pounds of steam is put on the boiler, and the steam escaping through the perforations in the pipes saturates the livers with hot steam and thus tries out the oil. In half an hour after steam is turned on all the oil that can be procured by trying out will have risen to the surface. The livers, now termed "blubber," will have sunk to the bottom of the vat. The oil is bailed off and put into barrels to cool and settle, after which it is refined by being allowed to freeze till it is of the consistency of thick mush, when it is put into drilling bags and the pure oil pressed out in a heavy iron press.

The oil that is pressed through the drilling is considered refined, and after being put up in new barrels of forty-five gallons each is sold to the wholesale druggists for about thirty-six cents per gallon. From these it passes to the retail druggists, who sell it for $4 or $5 per gallon. Running the oil through charcoal and sand has been tried as a refining process, but it was found to be vastly inferior to the freezing and pressing process. Refined cod liver oil, when subjected to the same temperature at which the crude oil was frozen, will change its color and assume a milky appearance. The refining process leaves in the bags a substance resembling lard in color and consistency. It is stearine, or "tanner's grease," and is used as a dressing for morocco.

The blubber left in the bottom of the vat after the trying out is allowed to work and ferment for forty-eight hours, and is then pressed. After the pressure has continued for fourteen hours all the oil is secured that remains in the blubber. It is inferior oil, of which there are six grades; it is worth about twenty-five cents per gallon, and is used by curriers in dressing, tanning and coloring leather. There is left in the bags a substance of the color and consistency of dry mud called "scrap," which is sold to farmers as a fertilizer at $9 per ton.

STRUCK THE RIGHT SPOT.

The best quality of cod liver oil comes from Norway. It is much clearer and whiter than the American oil. It is put up in tin casks holding thirty gallons each, inclosed in wooden barrels. The claim is made that no livers except those of the codfish are used in its manufacture, but American manufacturers strongly suspect that it owes its remarkable clearness to its having been mixed with seal oil. Twenty dollars per gallon is considered a low price for this oil, and it sometimes goes as high as $28. America is the largest buyer of Norwegian oil.

Newfoundland cod liver oil ranks next to the Norwegian oil. It is made entirely of the livers of young cod caught off the Labrador coast. Portland has a cod liver oil factory that produces 500 barrels a year—300 barrels of refined oil for medicinal purposes and 200 barrels of "currier's oil."

Cod liver oil has long been recognized as a valuable remedial agent, but it is not generally known that sometimes when the oil fails to effect a cure the steam arising from the trying out vat will succeed.

A consumptive here, in almost the last stages of the disease, happening to pass through a cod liver oil factory, stopped, inhaled large draughts of the usually offensive vapors as though they were the sweets of a flower garden, remarking: "There is something here that seems to strike the right spot," and, although a wealthy man, obtained permission to work in the factory. At the end of a month he had gained thirty pounds, had greatly improved in appearance and feeling, his appetite had returned, his cough was gone, and finally he completely recovered. Singers also sometimes resort to cod liver oil factories to inhale the fumes arising from the vats. They assert that their voices are thereby strengthened and cleared.—Portland (Me.) Letter.

The art of etching was introduced about the middle of the Fifteenth century by Thomas Finiguerra, a Florentine. Its value met with prompt recognition in France, Italy and Germany, but it was reserved for later times to carry it to a state of perfection.

The Roman Marriage.

Independent of the legal forms there were the social observances of marriage which were the same whatever was the legal ceremony chosen. At nightfall, when the star of Venus began to shine, the bride was fetched from her father's house. She was dressed in a white robe, a symbol of her virgin purity, bound round her waist with a woolen sash; her hair was plaited into six tresses after those of the Vestal Virgins; on her head she wore a flame colored veil and a fresh wreath of the sacred verbena, for the wife was priestess in her family. Under the protection of Juno Domiduca (the home leader) she passed through the streets accompanied by her friends and lighted on her way with torches. By her side there walked a young boy carrying an open basket, in which there lay a hank of wool, a distaff and a spindle, for spinning was the great duty of the Roman matron of the republic.

To be a good spinner was a gem in her crown of virtues, by the side of chastity and frugality, and the emblems of this occupation were held in honor even at a time when the chosen pursuits of women were very different. Arriving at the door of her new home she found it wreathed with flowers in honor of the festive occasion. On the door posts she hung fillets of wool and anointed them with oil as a symbol, it would seem, of fertility. She was then lifted over the threshold, a custom in which we may see a survival of the time when wives were habitually stolen from neighboring tribes and carried by force to their husband's house. In the atrium the bridegroom received her, handed to her a key as a sign of her rule in the house, and offered her fire and water to represent the necessaries of life which were at her disposal.

Answering to the fixed formula in which he addressed her, asking who she was, she replied: "Where you are Caius there am I Caia;" as we might say, "Your people shall be my people, your house my house, and your life my life." The pair then sat side by side on two chairs covered with the fleece of a sheep, and the priest joined their hands.

The marriage contract fixing the amount of the dowry and the mode of its administration was then signed, and a banquet followed, during which five wax candles were burned, while from the walls the waxen masks of the husband's ancestors, decked for the occasion with flowers, looked down from their open cupboards with approval.—The National Review.

Cigarette smoking is on the increase, so are Sweet Caporals.

—In announcing the Sunday School entertainment to be given in the church on Thursday evening, Rev. Mr. Starr intimated that the collection plates to be used that evening would be something original in the line of collection plates, and invited all to "come and see for themselves."

Entertainment this Evening.

A social entertainment will be held in the Gorge Road church this evening. A good programme has been prepared and an enjoyable evening is in store for those who attend.

Esquimalt Harbor Reservation.

A telegram from Ottawa to the morning papers states that with a view to preventing a recurrence of the Hustede affair Constance Cove has been set apart for the exclusive use of Her Majesty's ships until otherwise ordered. The reserve will be known as the Man-of-war Anchorage. It is understood that a meeting will shortly be held at Esquimalt to ask for a modification of the order which it is expected will be backed up by representations from the city.

Arrived.

Bass XXXX Ale (Lamb's Wool) at the Occidental Hotel bar.

The Ferry.

The Islander left Vancouver for Victoria at 3:10 p.m. to-day.

A Hard Way.

It is said that the way of the transgressor is hard, but it is doubtful if it is as hard as the way down Johnson street is just now.

Hymeneal.

That popular baritone singer, Mr. J. G. Brown, will to-night be united in marriage with Miss Teague, eldest daughter of Mr. John Teague. The ceremony will be performed at the residence of the bride's father at 7:30 by the Rev. J. E. Starr.

For the South.

The Walla Walla sailed for San Francisco at one o'clock to-day with the following passengers from this port: Mrs. J. C. Smith, W. H. Barrett, W. D. Mackenzie, H. B. Hammond, P. E. Ladner, Mrs. W. H. Ladner, Miss Ladner and Miss D. Ladner.

Sad News.

Mrs. J. E. Starr received a telegram yesterday which announced the death of her brother, William Graham, in Brampton, Ont., who after an illness of only six days, succumbed to an attack of inflammation of the lungs. The young man was in his eighteenth year, and was the favorite of all who knew him.

At the New Law School.

A young gentleman from this city who is attending the Toronto law school, which by the way is the only institution of the kind in Canada, writes to his friends that 120 students present themselves at the daily lectures given by practitioners. Moot courts are held every Friday at which counsel are appointed to argue either side of a case. This is done before five assessors, who draft a judgment upon the argument, the whole being under the supervision of the presiding lecturer. The school is already voted a success.

The Senatorial Party.

Senator Frye and his party of fifteen distinguished Americans arrived by the Olympian last evening and were received by Hon. J. H. Turner and Mr. E. Crow Baker. The party is composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: W. P. Frye and wife, Maine; H. L. Dawes, Mass.; C. H. Platt, Conn.; C. K. Davis and wife, Minn.; David Turpie, Ind.; Miss A. L. Davis, Mass.; Jno. W. Thurston and wife, Omaha; Chas. B. Reade, Maine; F. H. Briggs and wife, Maine; Woodbury Pulsifer, Maine; C. J. Smith, Oregon; R. R. Jones, Omaha; A. Cockingham, Portland, Ore.; W. D. Davis, Tacoma.

The party immediately on arrival took carriages for Esquimalt, gazed on the fleet of war ships and the magnificent harbor, admired the dock, examined the naval yard, returned to the Driard for dinner and returned east this morning.

Alaska Mines.

A great deal of development and prospecting is going on in Alaska, but the output of gold, barring the Treadwell mines, is not large. The Treadwell will utilize a new device for saving gold, whereby $3000 per month will be saved. The Yukon is not looked upon very favorably. Some miners are talking of going in next year with steam pumps to work the gravel in sluice boxes which cannot be touched with rockers.

The sloop Flying Dutchman, Captain Moore in command, recently arrived from Chilcat. She brought down a load of passengers that were on their way out from the Yukon mines.

The Barnard Castle.

The wrecking steamer Whitelaw is being overhauled and fitted with a new fire and wrecking pump which will throw eight streams through inch and a quarter nozzles, says the San Francisco Call. She will also have a steam air pump to replace manual labor in supplying divers with oxygen. It will supply a large receiver, containing enough air for four divers, doing away with the work of eight men who formerly had to pump air. The Whitelaw will go north about the 5th prox., to work on the wreck of the Barnard Castle. A concession has been obtained from the Canadian government allowing her to work in British waters.

C. P. R. Service.

It is said that by the proposed new time table for the C. P. R. through trains, the Atlantic and Pacific express trains will arrive at Winnipeg an hour earlier than at present, but will leave about the same time as now, thereby giving travellers two hours to see the city. The Pacific express stops an hour and twenty minutes and the Atlantic express an hour under the time table now in force, but in that time it is impossible to clean the cars properly and transfer the baggage. The running time between Montreal and Vancouver will be considerably lessened. Gen. Supt. Whyte has gone to St. Paul to consult with the officials of the St. P., M. & M. in reference to the proposed change.

The Orange Ball.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by about forty couples who were gathered at Oliver's Hall last night on the occasion of the annual ball of the Victoria Loyal Orange Lodge. Dancing was kept up until about midnight, when a bountiful supper was partaken of. After the good things had been discussed the merry dance went on again till the early hours. The committee, Messrs. T. J. Lindsay, R. Walker, Thos. Mitten, J. Duncan, Jos. Brown and Dr. Morrison, did their work well with the result that the event was a success in every particular. The hall, which was prettily decorated, looked most beautiful and cosy, while the music furnished by Messrs. Oliver and Bantly was of the best.

Richmond Notes.

The bridges across the North Arm are almost completed, there being only one span more to construct this week, which will unite Lulu and Sea Islands with the mainland. Of course there is considerable work yet to do by way of guarding the piers, etc., but if arrangements can be made with the company the bridge will probably be open for traffic next week.

A painful accident happened to one of the men engaged in building the bridge on Saturday last by a heavy brace falling down upon him and breaking his shoulder and also his leg above the knee.

The people in this locality are advocating for a daily mail and telephone communication with Vancouver and New Westminster.

Victoria is Jealous, Eh?

Westminster Truth blames Victoria merchants for the refusal of the captain of the Norcross to go up to Vancouver with a little "dab" of freight the vessel has for there. Truth says: Victoria is becoming rapidly jealous of the growing commercial importance of the two mainland towns, and a few of its merchants are pursuing the short-sighted policy of embarrassing their rivals in a way that will surely re-act to their own disadvantage. We say short sighted, for Victoria has a good natural location for a commercial metropolis—better than any city in the province. None can hope to compete with her for the upper coast trade, and she, as far as freight rates go, is on an equal footing with Vancouver and New Westminster for the trade of the mainland. Her merchants have ample capital, and if they would but use horse-sense along with their capital, they would not need to descend to schemes that may give them a temporary advantage, but which will surely re-act to their disadvantage in time.

A Corrupt System.

Bad blood may corrupt the entire system and cause scrofulous sores, swellings, abscess, salt rheum, erysipelas, sore eyes and skin diseases, as shingles, tetter, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood and cleanses, tones and purifies the entire system. n1-2w.

The only cigarette worth smoking says an expert, is a Sweet Caporal.

AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

Grand Ball in Honor of Lord and Lady Stanley.

The success of the ball given by Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson, last evening, in honor of His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Stanley, was not circumscribed by the size of "Castle Carey," whose capacity to receive guests has not grown with the desire of its occupants to entertain or of the the number of people to be entertained. The invitation list, published below, contains the names of about five hundred ladies and gentlemen, and while a considerable number of those invited were unable to accept, an estimate of between two and three hundred would not exaggerate the actual attendance. Carriages began to arrive before nine, the guests being received in the parlor by Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson. The company was a very brilliant one. The toilettes of the ladies were varied and beautiful, and the evening dress of the gentleman was relieved by the brilliant uniforms of the officers of the fleet and local artillery. Dancing commenced about half-past nine. In the set of honor, the Governor-General danced with Mrs. Nelson, Lieut.-Governor Nelson with Lady Stanley, of Preston, Rear Admiral Algernon Heneage with Lady Alice Stanley and Sir M. B. Begbie, with Mrs. McDonald. The programme, embracing twenty-two dances, was continued until 2 a.m. Refreshments were served continuously during the evening in a room next the billiard room, which was visited at pleasure and without formality, by the guests. Indeed, next to the brilliancy and richness of the costumes and the affability of Lord and Lady Stanley and the Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson, the feeling of "at-homeness" which pervaded the company—and which was inspired by the absence of formality—was the most noticeable feature to a newspaper man, the only person present who is supposed to stand back and take stock of such things. His Honor and his amiable lady received the congratulations of their host of friends for the delightful evening which they had provided. The following was the Badge Lost.

Officer Miller, of the provincial police force, mourns the loss of a gold badge, supposed to have been lost on the Esquimalt road the night of the naval ball. He offers a reward of $10 to the finder, and hopes it will turn up.

Crime in British Columbia.

Mr. Moylan, inspector of penitentiaries, reported to the Dominion government that the increase of convicts in British Columbia will necessitate the construction of an additional wing to the New Westminster penitentiary.

An Investigation.

Hon. Justice Drake presided yesterday at an investigation held at the provincial gaol to inquire into certain charges and counter charges brought by certain officials against one another. Further inquiry will be resumed to-morrow.

Thetis and North Pole.

The U. S. steamer Thetis left Ounalaska on October 4th for Sitka. She claims credit for having been further north at this time than any other United States vessel. It is estimated that she has been within 700 miles of the north pole.

Order Cancelled.

The Order-in-Council of the 18th May last, providing that steamships plying in Canadian waters with boilers constructed in the United Kingdom and inspected by the Imperial Board of Trade, or English Lloyds, shall be exempt from inspection in Canada for a period of twelve months from the date of the inspection in the United Kingdom, has been cancelled.

The Outgoing China Steamer.

The C. P. R. steamer which passed out on Saturday, carried the following freight and passengers: 18,367 pkgs.; dead weight 964 tons; dead weight 107 tons; measurement 1080 tons; also with mail and bullion. Passengers: Dr. H. W. Allan, wife and family; E. H. Robertson; L. Davidson, M. D. Dunnell, Miss May Traynor, M. Postlethwaite, F. Clayson, J. T. Moss, 409 Asiatics and 11 Japs in the steerage.

Dislocated Jaw.

A young son of Capt. Dods and the son of Wm. Bates, a hack driver, got into a juvenile dispute on Fort street yesterday morning. Young Dods was getting the best of the battle, when Bates' father came up and struck Dods a severe blow in the face, dislocating the lad's jaw. Capt. Dods was at first inclined to discuss the right of Mr. Bates to inflict bodily harm on his son, but better counsels prevailed and the matter will probably be settled in the police court.

The "Runaway Wife."

A fair audience was present at the Victoria theatre last night to witness the first production in this city of the above play by the McKee Rankin company. The play is not very strong, yet it is interesting, especially to those of a sentimental turn of mind. McKee Rankin is the same old-time reliable actor and invested the leading character with all his well-known ability. Mabel Bert shared the honors of the evening with him, while the rest of the cast are worthy of praise. There are a few choice bits of comedy in the play, and on the whole it is worth seeing. It will be repeated this evening.

A THEATRE NUISANCE.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir—Is there no way of suppressing the man who gets a seat in the middle of a row at the theatre, and then insists upon going out to "see a man" after every act? I sat next to a creature of this species last night. His going out was bad enough, but his coming in each time after the curtain was up was a good deal worse. Do such men ever realize what an intolerable nuisance they make of themselves? A Sufferer.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Yesterday's Great Races at the Driving Park.

Yesterday's races at the Driving Park were everything that could be wished for. [Good weather, good track, good crowd, good judges, and good management generally. It was a real metropolitan race meeting in which were a number of as good specimens of horseflesh as can be seen anywhere. C Battery band was on the ground and discoursed sweet music.

FIRST RACE.

The first race was ⅝ mile, best two in three heats. There were six starters, Rouse's Sorrel Dan, Paryne's Henry B., Drummond's Chilcotin, Beale's Cyclone, Feigh's Red Bird, Ross' McCullough. At the start in the first heat McCullough and Red Bird, the new arrivals since Saturday, jumped to the front and led for a short distance. Sorrel Dan and Chicotin closed up and contested the lead to the three-quarter pole, making a splendid race. McCullough kept the pole to the finish, Red Bird coming in a good second under the whip; Chilcotin third, Sorrel Dan half a length behind. Time, 39 seconds.

Second Heat—McCullough having won the first heat took the pole. Taking the lead at the start he held it to the finish, winning the heat easily, Red Bird receiving second after making a hard fight for first; time 33½ seconds. This gave the race to McCullough, Red Bird second. First money, $125; second, $25.

SECOND RACE.

This was for the 2.40 class, best three in five, one mile heats, trotting and pacing. The entries were: Teschout and Wilkinson's Mackin, T. Shaw's Dart, D.T. Beal's Mollie C., I. J. Pearsall's Sleepy Tom, Hill's Charles W, and J Wood's Dalco.

Dalco drew out at the start and led the way in the first half. Mackin then spurted and passed Dalco, retaining the lead to the finish and giving a fine exhibition of square steady trotting. Dart and the others followed Mackin and Dalco in straggling order; time, 2.37.

In the second heat Mackin taking the pole, obtained the lead at the start and showed the way around the track to the finish. Dalco second, Dart third; time, 2.38.

In the third heat, Mackin kept the same steady winning gait as before, trotting without a break and never being urged excepting when it was necessary to keep the lead. Dart in this heat made a good showing, paced steadily and came under the wire only a neck behind the leader with a Dalco a good third; time, 2.39. This gave the race to Mackin, Dalco, second, Dart third. Time, 2.37, 2.38, 2.39. First money, $200; second, $50.

THIRD RACE.

This was a running race for one mile and repeat, best two in three heats, horses to carry not less than 122 lbs.

There were five entries for this race: Black's "Coquitlam Jim," ridden by Gannon; McNeill's "Ito," Morris' "Murphy," Feigh's "Bingo," and H. S. Anderson's "Little Maude," the latter ridden by seven-year-old Little Charlie Anderson. Having been ruled from the track on Saturday Bingo was forced to withdraw from the race. In the betting Ito and Murphy were strong favorites. Maude was given the pole, Coquitlam Jim the outside. At the tap of the bell Ito and Murphy sprang to the front, Little Maude followed closely and took second place at the half mile contesting the lead with Ito. The race however was too fast for the little mare which dropped to the rear. Ito first, Murphy second, Jim third. Time 1:50.

The second heat was a repetition of the first, Ito running in fine form and well within himself. This fine horse runs beautifully with a good stiff rein and has the requisite strength for a long race. Time of second heat 1:52, giving first money $200 to Ito, second, $50, to Murphy. Considerable money was staked on this race and consequently the friends of Ito cleaned up handsomely.

GYMKHANA RACE.

Horses to walk the first half mile, trot second half mile, run the third half mile, gentleman riders. Any horse breaking from a walk on the first half mile or from a trot in the second, required to pull up and turn around on the track before proceeding. The parties who entered were D. Campbell, W. J. Taylor, Dr. Duncan, W. Prentiss, Joe McDonald and Geo. Black. In the walk Mr. Prentiss led the lonely procession around the track. Two of the horses broke from a walk to a trot and had to be turned around several times. When it came to the trot D. Campbell soon overhauled the leader and won such an advantage that he came in ahead easily on the run in the third half. Time about half an hour, prize a $50 silver cup.

INDIAN RACE.

There were some half dozen entries. After running around the half mile track they became confused as whether they were to go around again, one portion of the crowd shouting "go on," another to "come back." In the melee one brave made a bee line for a five-foot gate with his nag, and jumped it. Two others butted up against the fence and were thrown off. The crowd yelled "go on" when the fallen riders picked themselves up, mounted and scampered around the track, the whole making a very ludicrous picture, seeing that nobody was hurt.

NOTES.

There was great confusion of colors yesterday, the riders not wearing the colors denoting them on the programmes, some not wearing any.

Chilcotin and his rider were ruled off the track for six months for jockeying.

The new gong presented by Captain Irving adorns the judges' stand, one tap giving the signal to start.

The judges stand is no longer divided with the press, which is probably a good thing for both.

LACROSSE.

The Westminster lacrosse club has decided that unless Vancouver accepts the conditions of the challenge sent them by the New Westminster club they will not play.

NOT SATISFIED.

The race on Tuesday at Victoria between Gowdy's Maude and Cassel's Royal was not satisfactory to the backers of the latter, and another race will be run, this time at New Westminster. The race will be half-mile heats, best two in three, for $500 a side, and will be run on the 9th.—Truth.

The best value—Sweet Caporals.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
